Welcome to Folio

Your PDFs, read like books.

Swipe left or tap the right edge of the screen to turn the page.

Zoom in

Make small text bigger.

> Double-tap anywhere on this page to zoom in. Double-tap again to zoom out.

You can also pinch with two fingers. While zoomed in, drag to look around the page.

You zoomed in. Turn the page from here and the next one opens with its margins trimmed, so the words fill the screen. The crop button at the top switches between that and whole pages.

Next page ›

Show the menus

The page fills your screen while you read.

> Tap the middle of the page to show the menus. Tap again to hide them.

The menus hide on their own when you turn a page.

In the menus, the slider at the bottom moves you anywhere in the book.

Next page ›

Bookmark a page

Save a page to come back to.

> Tap the ribbon at the top right to bookmark this page.

Tap the ribbon again to remove the bookmark.

Next page ›

Jump to a chapter

Find your way around a long book.

> Tap the list button at the top right, then tap Your library.

The list also shows your bookmarks and lets you search the book.

Next page ›

Your library

Add your own books.

In the library, tap + to add PDFs from Files, Drive or Downloads.

Folio suggests an album for each new book, such as Fiction or Textbooks. Tap the suggestion to file it.

Folio saves your page in every book, so you always pick up where you left off.

Next page ›

Keep a backup

Your books stay on this device.

Uninstalling Folio deletes the books inside it, so keep your PDFs in Files or Drive too.

In the library, tap Settings, then Back up. This saves your albums, bookmarks and reading positions to a small file.

On a new device, tap Restore and add the same PDFs.

Next page ›

Free books

Folio opens PDFs you already have.

These sites offer free books you can download legally:

Project Gutenberg (gutenberg.org) for classic books.

OpenStax (openstax.org) for college textbooks.

Next page ›

You’re ready

Tap the back arrow at the top left to go to your library and add your first book.

You can delete this guide from its ... menu in the library.